1. Between 13 and 30 June 1954, there was light air activity at Tuetnitz airfield. Aircraft [REDACTED] were involved in air activity which mainly included individual flying. Repeatedly bursts of fire were heard from the Bodden. 1
2. [REDACTED]
3. On 16 July, aircraft parked at the field included 10 MiG-15s or U-MiG-15s on the dispersal area at the taxiway north of the Tuetnitz sheep-farm and 4 MiG-15s or U-MiG-15s as alert flight. No flying was observed. The weather was unfavorable. The DF station was seen at its previous location. The radio installation with one mast was again observed west of the DF station. A Token-type radar set and several underground bunkers with the exit in the direction of Bodden, were observed next to Koeppenbergl (hill). 3
4. In early July, it was determined from a construction order that two ammunition dumps were to be constructed [REDACTED] at a total cost of 145,000 DEM. These dumps were to be located about 1.5 km distant from the field and were to be completed by September 1954. The order also [REDACTED] stated that stress had to be laid on perfect insulating. Fighter Unit [REDACTED] chief of which was Colonel Lernikov (fnu), was allotted 37,000 DEM for the reconstruction of a clubhouse. Major Wachtsavsk (fnu) also belonged to this unit. 4
